

STONER

Is a strong ale with a deep-gold color. It is produced with a blend of malt barley, wheat and rye, and candied sugar which is added during cooking. The beer is slightly opalescent in color, with a white, persistent and creamy froth. It is strong and full-bodied, but also fresh and fruity, with a dry and persistent final taste, slightly hopped, but with a well-balanced alcohol level. Good for several food pairings, but best for real thirst.

STONER

Is a strong ale with a deep-gold color. It is produced with a blend of malt barley, wheat and rye, and candied sugar which is added during cooking. The beer is slightly opalescent in color, with a white, persistent and creamy froth. It is strong and full-bodied, but also fresh and fruity, with a dry and persistent final taste, slightly hopped, but with a well-balanced alcohol level. Good for several food pairings, but best for real thirst.

STONER

Is a strong ale with a deep-gold color. It is produced with a blend of malt barley, wheat and rye, and candied sugar which is added during cooking. The beer is slightly opalescent in color, with a white, persistent and creamy froth. It is strong and full-bodied, but also fresh and fruity, with a dry and persistent final taste, slightly hopped, but with a well-balanced alcohol level. Good for several food pairings, but best for real thirst.

STONER

Is a strong ale with a deep-gold color. It is produced with a blend of malt barley, wheat and rye, and candied sugar which is added during cooking. The beer is slightly opalescent in color, with a white, persistent and creamy froth. It is strong and full-bodied, but also fresh and fruity, with a dry and persistent final taste, slightly hopped, but with a well-balanced alcohol level. Good for several food pairings, but best for real thirst.

STONER

Is a strong ale with a deep-gold color. It is produced with a blend of malt barley, wheat and rye, and candied sugar which is added during cooking. The beer is slightly opalescent in color, with a white, persistent and creamy froth. It is strong and full-bodied, but also fresh and fruity, with a dry and persistent final taste, slightly hopped, but with a well-balanced alcohol level. Good for several food pairings, but best for real thirst.

STONER

Is a strong ale with a deep-gold color. It is produced with a blend of malt barley, wheat and rye, and candied sugar which is added during cooking. The beer is slightly opalescent in color, with a white, persistent and creamy froth. It is strong and full-bodied, but also fresh and fruity, with a dry and persistent final taste, slightly hopped, but with a well-balanced alcohol level. Good for several food pairings, but best for real thirst.

